This graduate handbook provides general information on degree requirements as well as academic standards, policies, and procedures. It should be used in conjunction with the current Arizona State University Graduate Catalog. Since it is the students’ responsibility to comply with all university, school, and faculty requirements, it is in their best interests to be thoroughly familiar with this handbook and to consult with the SILC Associate Director of Graduate Studies, the SILC Graduate Student Coordinator, and more particularly with the Representative of Graduate Studies for East Asian Studies.

Information on Graduate College procedures can be found at:

Arizona State University is an affirmative action/equal employment opportunity institution and does not discriminate on the basis of an individual’s race, color, religion, sex, sexual orientation, national origin, citizenship, age, disability, Vietnam-era veteran status, special disabled veteran status, or any other unlawful discriminatory grounds in its programs or employment.

Program Goals

The graduate program in Asian Languages and Civilizations: Japanese provides a research-intensive, inter-disciplinary, area-based program of study in the traditional and modern languages and cultures of Japan. Students may focus on literature, literary criticism, thought and religion, comparative cultural studies, cultural history, or religious studies. In every case students will be expected to acquire a solid grounding in classical and modern Japanese, as well as reading facility in kanbun.

THE M.A. PROGRAM in Japanese prepares students to pursue further academic training and graduate work, or to teach in the K–16 sequence, or to go on to professional schools in such fields as law, business or journalism, or to perform well in jobs involving Japan or Japanese.

Academic Standards and Policies

Admission Procedures
Candidates who have completed a B.A. in Japanese studies, or close equivalent, from an accredited institution will be given preference for admission to the Graduate Program. Other factors taken into consideration include:

• quality of the writing sample;
• letters of recommendation assessing the student’s command of Japanese and English and potential for graduate work;
• quality of previous educational experience;
• the applicant’s G.P.A.;
• experience of study abroad.

Students with a non-traditional background can be considered on an ad-hoc basis, but they should contact the Faculty Representative for East Asian Studies before applying. Students who enter the program with any gaps in their prerequisite requirements should expect to make them up during their first year of study.

Students applying to the M.A are not required to submit GRE scores, but are encouraged to do so. Students who are from a country whose native language is not English or who have earned a bachelor’s degree of higher from a regionally accredited college or university in the U.S. should submit TOEFL or IELTS scores.

Deadlines
To be considered for any form of financial aid in East Asian Languages and Civilizations, including Teaching or Research Assistantships or Associateships, an applicant’s application for admission for the Fall semester of the next academic year must be received before 11:59 p.m. on the specified deadline (as of the time of writing, January 15th). For all others, the deadline is April 15th of the year in which he or she will enroll. Applications for Graduate Assistantships are not considered until the applicant has been admitted with regular status to the Graduate College. The application for a Teaching or Research Assistantship should be submitted to the School of International Letters and Cultures along with your admission application. Assistantships are normally awarded only for the full academic year (fall and spring semesters).

Counting Transfer Credit and Course Work Taken in Non-degree Status Toward the M.A.
Under normal circumstances, no more than 6 units of graduate-level credit completed at an outside university may count toward the Master’s program of study. No more than 9 units of graduate level credit completed at ASU as an unclassified graduate student may count toward the Masters’ program of study.

Graduate Student and Graduate Assistant Enrollment
It is expected that all students enrolled in the program will carry a full load of coursework. Note that, without exception, graduate assistants on half-time Research Assistant or Teaching Assistant appointments (20 hours per week), must be enrolled for at least 6 approved credit hours (exclusive of audited courses) each semester. In order to maintain active status, students must be enrolled in the University for at least one credit hour in every academic semester until their program is completed. All students holding graduate Teaching Assistantships will be required to enroll in SLC 596 ("Second Language Methodologies") during the first fall semester of their first assignment. For more information see https://graduate.asu.edu/sites/default/files/ta-ra-policies-and-procedures-handbook-8-4-2017_0.pdf

TAs may not hold any additional or outside employment beyond their TAship during the fall or spring semesters (although they may in the summer). Engaging in such activities may result in the termination of your assistantship. Additionally, students who have accepted a TA offer must reside in the Phoenix Metropolitan area, regardless of course instruction mode.

Incompletes
Students who receive an Incomplete in courses at the 500-level or above have up to one calendar year to complete the course for a grade although individual faculty members may set a deadline earlier than one calendar year. After one calendar year the incomplete will become a permanent part of the transcript. To repeat the course for credit a student must re-register and pay fees. The grade for the repeated course will appear on the transcript, but will not replace the permanent incomplete.

No student may accumulate three or more Incompletes at any one time. Courses in which a student has taken incompletes and that appear on an already approved Plan of Study must be completed before the student requests the date of the oral defense of the thesis or dissertation. In addition, three incompletes will constitute evidence of insufficient progress and the student may lose his or her TA position or fellowship support.

Reading and Conference Courses
Reading and Conference courses will be given only under exceptional circumstances, and cannot duplicate standard courses that are regularly available. These courses may be counted toward degree progress if they have been approved by the student’s Supervisory Committee. Students enrolling in such courses must obtain the necessary signatures on forms available in the SILC Graduate Student Coordinator’s office.

Provisional Status
Students who have been admitted on provisional status must 1) make up the deficiency identified in their offer letter and, 2) earn a grade of B+ or better in all coursework taken in that status. A lower grade will result in recommendation for dismissal from the program. P (Pass) and Y (Satisfactory) grades will not be accepted for courses taken under provisional status.

Retention
All students are expected to make systematic progress toward completion of their degree. This progress includes satisfying the conditions listed below, and achieving the benchmarks and requirements set by this degree program. If a student fails to satisfy the requirements of their degree program, and/or benchmarks below, the student may be dismissed from their program based on the unit’s recommendation to the Graduate College.

- M.A. students are required to maintain a minimum 3.5 GPA in graduate-level courses. Students who at any time fall below these averages will be considered on probation for the following semester. If, during that semester, they do not meet minimal requirements, we will recommend to the Graduate College dean that the student be dismissed from the program.
- Grades of C and below do not meet the requirements of a graduate degree.
- Satisfy all requirements of the graduate degree program.

Graduate students must stay continuously enrolled in their degree program. Failing to do so without a Graduate College approved Request to Maintain Continuous Enrollment is considered to be lack of academic progress and may lead to automatic dismissal from the program.
Review and Dismissal
All students admitted to the M.A. program will be reviewed annually and a written report will be shared with the student by the Director of Graduate Studies. Students whose work is judged unacceptable or insufficient academic progress will be given written notice and one year to correct deficiencies. If deficiencies have not been corrected, the student will be recommended for dismissal to the Graduate College.

Entrepreneurship + Innovation
Do you have an idea for a product or service that could solve a problem, fill a need or enhance people’s lives? Entrepreneurship + Innovation at Arizona State University connects you to the information, resources and people that can help you turn your ideas into reality.

Coursework
Students will register for all coursework online through their MyASU page. Graduate-level courses are those numbered 500 or higher. Details regarding registration and course drop/add procedures are provided in the Registration and Tuition Payment Guide.

Leave of Absence
Once admitted to a graduate degree program or graduate certificate program, students must be registered for a minimum of one credit hour during all phases of their graduate education, including the term in which they graduate. If a student cannot meet this requirement, they must request a leave of absence, which can be done as a petition through the Interactive Plan of Study. Once submitted, the petition must be approved by the academic unit and Graduate College before the anticipated semester of non-registration. Students may request up to two semesters of non-registration during their graduate program.

Academic Integrity
The highest standards of academic integrity and compliance with the university’s Student Code of Conduct are expected of all graduate students in academic coursework and research activities. The failure of any graduate student to uphold these standards may result in serious consequences including suspension or expulsion from the university and/or other sanctions as specified in the academic integrity policies of individual colleges as well as the university. Violations of academic integrity include, but are not limited to: cheating, fabrication of data, tampering, plagiarism, or aiding and/or facilitating such activities. At the graduate level, it is expected that students are familiar with these issues and that each student assumes personal responsibility in their work.

Withdrawal
Voluntary withdrawal from ASU: If a student wishes to withdraw from his/her graduate degree program and the university, they must complete the Voluntary Withdrawal Form. Students must separately complete the appropriate forms with the University Registrar to withdraw from their courses. International students should contact the International Student and Scholars Center (ISSC) before submitting a Voluntary Withdrawal form, as it most likely will affect their visa status.

Voluntary withdrawal from a graduate degree program: If a student wishes to transition from one graduate degree program to another graduate degree program, the student should complete the Voluntary Withdrawal form. The student should not take this action until they have been admitted to the other graduate degree program.

Other types of withdrawal: There are appropriate circumstances when students may need to withdraw from the university (i.e. medical withdrawal, compassionate leave). The policies for such withdrawals are the same for both undergraduate and graduate students. Types of withdrawals and procedures can be found at the University Registrar’s Office.

International Students
Students who need assistance with visas, immigration status, or other immigration questions should contact the International Student and Scholars Center (ISSC).

Health and Wellness and Disability Resources
ASU offers many health and wellness resources for our students. Please visit ASU Health Services for information on counseling, public safety, and Sun Devil Fitness. ASU’s Disability Resource Center is a great resource for students with disabilities.

Interactive Plan of Study (iPOS)
Graduate students will file their Doctoral Plan of Study using a secure online process called the Interactive Plan of Study (iPOS). This electronic process will guide you through a step-by-step process and present a list of eligible courses to choose from. A number of edits are built in to ensure that students have met university requirements prior to submitting their iPOS. Students must submit their iPOS by the time they have enrolled for 50 percent of the minimum credit hours required for their degree program. Students will be able to login to review the status at any point along the way.

Transfer Credits
Credit hours completed at ASU or at another regionally accredited U.S. institution or international institution officially recognized by that country, before the semester and year of admission to an ASU graduate degree program, are considered pre-admission credits. With the approval of the academic unit and the Graduate College office, students may include a maximum of 12 graduate-level credit hours with grades of “B” or better that were not used towards a previous degree. Preadmission credits must have been taken within three years of admission to the ASU degree or certificate program to be accepted.

Grade Appeals/Grievances
A. The aggrieved student must first undergo the informal procedure of conferring with the instructor, stating any evidence and reasons for questioning that the grade received was not given in good faith. The instructor is obliged to review the matter, explain the grading procedure used and show how the grade in question was determined. If the instructor is a graduate assistant and this interview does not resolve the difficulty, the student may then take the problem to the faculty member in charge of the course (regular faculty member or director of the course sequence).

B. If the grading dispute is not resolved in step A, the student may appeal to the department chair or other appropriate chair of the area within the department (if any). The department chair may confer with the instructor to handle the problem. Step B applies only in departmentalized colleges or schools.

C. If these discussions are not adequate to settle the matter to the complainant's satisfaction, the student may then confer with the dean of the college or school concerned (or the dean-designate) who will review the case. If unresolved, the dean or designate may refer the case to the college or school academic grievance hearing committee to review the case formally. In most instances, however, the grievance procedure does not go beyond this level.

Responsibilities of the Chair of the student’s Supervisory Committee

The Chair of the student’s Supervisory Committee shall:

- Meet with the student within the first two weeks of each semester;
- Work with the student to submit the iPOS (interactive Plan of Study) to the Graduate College by the beginning of the third semester both for Master’s and Doctoral degrees;
- Write an annual evaluation of the student in accordance with the established criteria;
- Ensure that the examination, thesis and dissertation process follow the criteria established in the ASU Graduate Handbook and in this manual.
Programs of Study

The Japanese Program in SILC offers a Master of Arts Degree focusing primarily on literary and cultural studies, religion, and history.

It seeks to prepare students for further academic training, for entrance to professional schools in fields such as law, business or journalism, and for a general level of knowledge about the languages and cultures of Japan as an asset to a professional career.

Requirements for admission:

- Completion of 30 units or the equivalent of modern Japanese.
- 6 units in Japanese Literature in Translation, or 3 units in Japanese Literature in Translation and 3 units in courses on Japanese religion, thought, or philosophy that utilize primary texts in translation.

- 3 units of a general survey of Japanese culture and civilization

Previous training (3-6 units) in classical Japanese and/or kanbun is highly desirable, although not essential for admission. Typically, students in the M.A. program will be expected to study classical Japanese and kanbun during their first year in the program.

Students may be admitted with deficiencies that must be made up during the first year (see Admission Procedures, p.2).

Coursework

Candidates must complete at least 30 units of 400-500 level graduate courses with a JPN (or SLC) heading (24 units of coursework, and 6 hours of Thesis [JPN599]). No more than 6 units of 400 level courses may be counted. Coursework will normally include two seminars and three 400/500 level reading courses. The writing and defense of a thesis completes the M.A. program.

All students need to file an official Plan of Study through the iPOS system following the requirements of the graduate programs in SILC. Students need to work with their Supervisory Committee Chair and submit the Plan of Study to the Graduate College no later than the beginning of their third semester of study. Changes in the Plan of Study may be made later if necessary. Once the Plan of Study has been completed, it must be checked and signed by the Chair of the Supervisory Committee and by the Director of Graduate Study for East Asia. See the Graduate Student Coordinator for assistance.

Time Limitations

M.A. programs are expected to be completed within three years. The time allowed can be flexible, particularly for students who will want to do a year abroad. But all work done toward the Master’s degree program must be completed within six consecutive years.

M.A. Supervisory Committee

The purpose of the Supervisory committee is
- to assist the student in planning a program that fits his/her own needs and interests
- to supervise the student’s yearly academic progress
- to arrange the oral defense of the thesis.

The committee members will normally be chosen from the faculty with whom the student has taken or will take course work in the program and subject areas chosen.

The Supervisory Committee chair will be a member of the EALC graduate faculty. If a student’s research warrants, the chair of the student’s Supervisory Committee may request the inclusion of a thesis committee member from outside the EALC faculty. The program cannot assume any expenses incurred by having an external member of the committee.
Change of M.A. Supervisory Committee

Under unusual circumstances, the student will be allowed to change Supervisors only until the semester in which the student defends his or her culminating experience. Changes may be requested due to a change in research topic or a prolonged absence on the part of a faculty member, etc. The committee change form may be obtained through iPOS system from the Graduate College.

International Students

All Graduate Teaching Assistants/Associates for whom English is not a native language must have a minimum TOEFL score of 550 (pBT), or 80 (iBT) for admission (for more information see here); and must also take the Test of Spoken English (TSE) or the ASU SPEAK Test (only given on campus at the ITA program office). Potential TAs must pass this test with a minimum of 55 (230 on the old scale), in order to secure their position. It is advisable that students take the TSE test in their home country, preferably at the time they take the TOEFL. If potential TAs do not take and pass the test prior to being offered a TA contract, they will have to arrange it as soon as possible—this is often logistically difficult and may put a TA position in jeopardy if not handled well in advance. If a potential TA does not receive the minimum passing score, their contract will automatically be voided. For more information contact the SILC Graduate Program Student Services Support Coordinator at silc@asu.edu. International students should apply as early as possible in the fall semester.
Selection of Graduate Assistants/Associates for Academic Year Appointment

The following priorities are in effect:

1. Ph.D. students who demonstrate satisfactory progress toward completion of degree requirements are normally supported for a maximum of five years.
2. M.A. students who demonstrate satisfactory progress toward completion of degree requirements are normally supported for a maximum of three years.

The deadline for submission of applications is usually 15 January of each year. Interested students should not miss this deadline. TAships are only granted beginning in the fall semester. Students who are selected for a TAship must complete the SLC 596 Second Language Methodologies course in August before they begin their first semester of teaching.

Continuing students must complete an annual application before February 10. This application should be accompanied by a copy of the statement of teaching experience and academic goals mentioned below.

Evaluation of Continuing Graduate Students

On or before February 1 of each academic year the chair of the student’s Supervisory Committee and the Director of Graduate Study are charged with evaluating students’ academic progress and teaching performance.

At the beginning of the second semester of each academic year each student must present a printout of his/her graduate courses taken at ASU and a brief statement about their teaching experience and academic goals for the next year. The statement, less than 1 page in length, should include:

1. how many semesters of support s/he has received in their current program;
2. whether s/he has filed the official Plan of Study, taken exams, participated in conferences;
3. other pertinent information for the period covered by the evaluation.

Optionally, each teaching assistant may arrange, through his/her supervisor, to be evaluated by another faculty member. This evaluation will result in a narrative statement.

It is the student’s responsibility to submit all the required paperwork by the deadline and to ensure that his/her academic adviser has filed the appropriate report. Incomplete dossiers cannot be considered.
